WORKS IN PROGRESS

Ideology and Priorities in an Organizational Hierarchy: Evidence from US Catholic Bishops

Job market paper. Draft available.

- First quantitative estimate of the ideological position of the U.S. Catholic hierarchy: concentrated rather than polarized, and a bishop's position does not transmit to his priests
- Original pairwise-comparison survey; Bayesian Bradley-Terry model over 1,283 comparisons; 277 bishops; calibration and equivalence testing

From Bloc to Bellwether: The Reversal of the Catholic-Democratic Alignment, 1948-2024

Draft available.

- The Catholic-Democratic alignment has reversed rather than weakened, and what survives is conditional on attendance, ethnicity, and generation
- ANES cumulative file, 1948-2024; roughly forty thousand voters across twenty presidential elections; multilevel models and Oaxaca-Blinder decomposition by decade

Patronage Networks and Ideology in the American Catholic Hierarchy

In preparation.

- Episcopal ties move careers without moving positions: connectivity does not track ideology
- Original relational matrix over the full scored roster; co-consecration, shared formation, and committee service ties; exponential random graph models

RUBÉN ARTURO RODRÍGUEZ BARRÓN

A Scale to Measure Social and Economic Conservatism

Draft available.

- A scale separating social from economic conservatism, showing that the two do not collapse onto a single left-right axis
- Built from existing ANES items; shorter than standard scales and free of the evaluative wording that burdens indirect measures

PUBLIC SCHOLARSHIP AND MEDIA

National Catholic Register

March 2026

Quoted in Is the 'Revival' of Faith in Gen Z Real? by Jonah McKeown

- Interviewed on the reliability of diocesan conversion data and the delay and estimation error introduced at each step of the reporting chain
- The article's statistical basis is the CARA analysis below

Center for Applied Research in the Apostolate, Georgetown University

January 2026

Are People Flocking to Catholicism in the U.S.? with Mark M. Gray

- Diocesan sacramental data from the Official Catholic Directory, 2013-2024
- Distinguishes post-pandemic catch-up from genuine trend in entries into the Church; normalizes by Catholic population and flags the limits of diocesan population estimates
